Granary Grill, Weston Park

May 1st sees the opening of the long anticipated 'Granary Grill' set in the stunning grounds of Weston Park on the Shropshire Staffordshire borders.

LightIQ consulted on the lighting of this 70-seater restaurant which offers an extensive menu of high quality locally-sourced food and drink, much sourced from their very own estate.

The Granary Grill will complete the final phase of the restoration of the Granary building. The ambitious development project has already seen the transformation of part of the disused building into a farm shop and art gallery.

The Granary Grill, located in the old malting house of the Granary building, and features a state-of-the-art open plan kitchen with a large grill where Head Chef Guy Day's team will sizzle up lunch and dinner seven days a week. A split level 'Mezzanine seating area will provide diners with beautiful views over Church Pool and estate cottages.

The restaurant development will complete the estate's dining repertoire allowing visitors the opportunity to enjoy great food at everyday prices as Colin Sweeney, Chief Executive explains: "Our latest project will complete the food experience in the Granary. Our farm shop and in-house butchery will supply the Granary Grill with locally sourced produce and we are excited that the last piece of the jigsaw is falling into place."

The critics stated 'The Granary Grill, Weston Park, looks like it is quickly going to become a destination for the regions Gourmands.'
